In this town of falling stars where I first met you..."

Backed by the earth science teacher, Ozawa-sensei, Kotaro discovers his dream to become an earth science teacher and changes where he'll take his entrance exam. Prodded forward by Kotaro, Ichinose is also unable to throw away her dream to become a nurse. Having almost given up on it, she begins thinking how to push forward. The distance between them slowly continues to close. As winter approaches, it soon becomes time to choose their schools... What will their futures hold? What will happen to their feelings for each other? This is the concluding volume in the world's most tender "Flashback" Love Story. You will inevitably be moved and pushed to tears.
